Newcombe Foundation Announces Grants for the 2007-08 Academic Year

Princeton, NJ – The Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation has designated $2.4 million in 44 grants for 2007-08 scholarships and fellowships. These awards bring the Foundation's cumulative grants since 1981 to a total of almost $45.9 million. In the past 26 years, more than 31,250 Newcombe Scholarships have been awarded through annual grants to 92 universities and colleges, and over 1,000 Newcombe Doctoral Dissertation Fellowships have been awarded through annual grants to the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. Included in the Foundation's awards this year are 44 endowment challenges, totaling $650,000, which should result in the addition of almost $1.4 million to the 52 established Newcombe Funds. At last report, the Newcombe Endowment Funds had a combined market value of $10.2 million.

Newcombe Scholarships for Mature Women Students

The Newcombe Foundation announces grants totaling $900,000 to 25 universities and colleges to provide Newcombe Scholarships for Mature Women Students in the 2007-08 academic year. The Newcombe Fellowships

The Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation announces a grant of $880,152 to The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation of Princeton, NJ to continue the program of Newcombe Doctoral Dissertation Fellowships in 2008. The grant will furnish $23,000 stipends to 28 nationally selected scholars in the humanities and social sciences whose dissertations center on issues of ethical or religious values, as well as underwriting the administrative costs of the program. The Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation's 2008 grant for the Newcombe Doctoral Dissertation Fellowships is the third part of a three-year commitment to support this program from 2006 to 2008 with grants to The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation that total more than $2.45 million.

Special Scholarship Endowment Grants

Bank Street College of Education

The Newcombe Foundation announces the second year of a total grant of $100,000 to The Bank Street College of Education, in New York City. This award will be matched with $150,000 by the College's other donors over two academic years, from June 2006 through June 2008. The $250,000 from the grant and its match will double the size of Bank Street's existing Newcombe Endowed Scholarship Fund, which benefits the College's mature women students. That Newcombe Fund, currently valued at more than $325,000, has provided $136,000 in the last 13 years for Newcombe Scholarship awards.

University of the Sciences in Philadelphia

The Newcombe Foundation announces a grant of $50,000 to the University of the Sciences in Philadelphia (USP) for 2007, which is the second year of a two-year commitment that totals $100,000. This grant will be matched with $100,000 by the University's other donors over two academic years, from June 2006 through June 2008. The $200,000 from the grant and its match will more than double the size of the existing scholarship fund at USP established by the Newcombe Foundation, the Matthew J. Wilson Endowed Scholarship Fund. The Wilson Scholarship Fund, currently valued at more than $181,000, benefits USP's pharmacy students and has provided almost $154,000 for scholarships in the last 24 years.

Mercer County Community College (new recipient)

The Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation announces a grant of $50,000 to Mercer County Community College (MCCC) in West Windsor, NJ for 2007. This grant is offered as a challenge to Mercer CCC to match the Foundation's $50,000 with an equal amount in order to establish a Newcombe Fund. The newly-established Newcombe Endowed Fund is intended to encourage students to pursue careers in nursing and healthcare fields by meeting some of their unmet financial need, and to recruit other donors to build Mercer's scholarship programs. The new Newcombe Fund at Mercer would begin to make awards in the second year, expecting to allocate $4,000 as four $1,000 scholarships to carefully selected students finishing degree programs in the healthcare field.
